William Briggs, 72, Prominent Mason, Dies

Building Association Auditor Served Printer's Apprenticeship on The Star

WILLIAM BRIGGS.

William Briggs, auditor for the National Permanent Building Association, and prominent in Masonic and other organizations, died in the Stanton Park Hospital Sunday, after an illness of several months. He was 72 years old.

A native of Washington, Mr. Briggs served a printer's apprenticeship on The Evening Star. Subsequently he became a printer and then clerk at the Government Printing Office. Later he was secretary of the National Permanent Building Association, then auditor.

Mr. Briggs was a former president of the National Union, a fraternal insurance organization; a member of the Veteran Printers' Association and a former member of the Typographical Union.

His Masonic affiliations included membership in Hope Lodge, No. 20, F.A.A.M.; Orient Commandery, Knights Templar, and in the Naval Chapter, Royal Arch Masons. He also belonged to the Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by a brother, James S. Briggs, and a sister, Mrs. Annie M. Hunter.

Funeral services will be conducted at the brother's residence, 237 Ninth street northeast, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.
