

Charles M. Chipman

(- 28 Mar 1884)

Chipman. On Friday, March 28, 1884 at 7:15 a.m., Charles M., son of Sarah J. and the late Charles R. Chipman in the 27th year of his age. Funeral will take place from his late residence, No. 2120 H street northwest, on Sunday, at 2 o'clock p.m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend.

The Washington Post, September 16, 1883, p. 5

Brevities

...

The resignation of Police Officer C.M. Chipman, on account of failing health, has been accepted; station Keeper Henry P. Catell appointed a private of the first class, and C.M. Chipman appointed to fill the position of station keeper.

The Washington Post, March 29, 1884, p. 3

Mr. Charles M. Chipman, formerly station keeper at the Third precinct police station, West Washington, died yesterday morning at his residence, No 2128 H street, of consumption. He had been a member of the police force but resigned on account of failing eyesight. He was married and had several children.