

Cohill, John M.

(- 4 Jan 1873)

The Evening Star, January 6, 1873

Boy Drowned

On Saturday, John Cohill, a lad about 10 years of age, in attempting to catch drift wood from the canal near Guinand's wharf, on the Eastern Branch, fell through the ice, and before aid could reach him, was drowned. The body was recovered. R 8 S 107