Sudden Death of A Lady

Mrs. W.J. Collamer left her residence, No. 1635 10th street, Thursday morning, to go to her dressmaker's on 14th street. She had been ill for several days, and it is thought that the exertion of walking precipitated her trouble and possibly affected her mind temporarily, as she was next seen in the afternoon by Mrs. Newkirk holding to the railing in front of her house, corner of 2d and B streets northwest. She was a stranger to Mrs. Newkirk, but was invited in to rest, and complained of feeling faint, and getting worse, Drs. Tarkinton and Johnson were called in, and done what they could for her. Before becoming delirious she gave her husband's name, and a messenger was dispatched for him. She died at 8 o'clock last night.
