

John Cullom

(1798 – 5 Nov 1866)

The Evening Star, August 11, 1862

Painful Accident

Yesterday afternoon, an old gentleman named John Cullom, engraver, was knocked down and run over by a carriage going at a rapid rate, near the corner of Eighth street and the Avenue. He was taken to the Third Ward station and a physician sent for, who examined his injuries. He was badly bruised, but no bones broken. Mr. C. is very deaf, and could hear no warning had it been given. The young man who drove over him gave his name as A.W. Merrill. He returned to the aid of the injured man, and went with him to the station.

McMahan, Virgil E. The Artists of Washington, DC, 1796-1996. The Artists of Washington, Washington, DC, 1995.

CULLOM, JOHN

Engraver born in England in 1798. He was active in Boston from 1826-1832, in Portland, ME in 1834 and in Washington, DC, from 1846 to at least 1865. REFS: GROCE; WCD (1865).