Sudden Death

Yesterday, about noon, Mr. Abram Eschleman was found in the yard near his residence, 222 2d street northwest, lying on the ice, in a dying condition. It was a sudden attack of apoplexy. He was apparently well a few minutes before being found. He was unconscious until his death, which occurred last night. Mr. Eschleman, was an old citizen, formerly of Pennsylvania, and was esteemed by all who knew him as an honest, high-minded man. His family have the sympathy of the whole community.
