

Evelyn Rachelle McBlair

(- 3 Apr 1918)

McBlair. On Wednesday, April 3, 1918, Evelyn Rachelle Lentzy, widow of Andrew Jackson McBlair. Funeral from St. Paul's Church, 23rd street on Friday, April 5 at 10:30 a.m.

The Evening Star, April 14, 1918, p. 14

Mrs. A.J. McBlair Dies

Manager of the Arts Club Passes Away at Home in City

Mrs. A.J. McBlair, manager of the Arts Club and for many years a resident of Washington, died at her home, at the club quarters, 2017 I street northwest, Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be held at St. Paul's P.E. Church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. McBlair was the widow of A.J. McBlair, well known here in athletic and sporting circles. She had been manager of the Arts Club for a number of years. She is survived by a sister-in-law, Miss Julia McBlair; two cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McBlair of the Clermont apartments. Mrs. Donald McBlair is a granddaughter of Francis Scott Key, the author of "The Star Spangled Banner."