Funeral of George Norbeck

A Venerable Citizen, Who Was Generally Respected

The funeral of the late George Norbeck, one of the most venerable and highly respected citizens of Washington, who died Thursday at his residence, 1818 8th street northwest, took place this morning at 11 o'clock. Interment was made at Congressional cemetery. Mr. Norbeck, who was eighty-eight years of age, had lived in this city for sixty years. During his active business career he was one of the prominent confectioners of the city, and for forty years conducted an establishment on Pennsylvania avenue. He was a citizen who always took a keen interest in District affairs and noted for his broad sense of justice. One of his daughters married Mr. Samuel Cross, secretary of the Washington Safe Deposit Company.
