

Lilly Aramina Padgett

(– 5 Dec 1875)

The Evening Star, December 4, 1875

Another Shocking Coal Oil Accident

While a daughter of Mr. Mace Padgett, residing in Uniontown, was filling a coal oil lamp on Thursday last it exploded, and the burning fluid ignited the dress of an infant daughter of Mr. Padgett playing on the floor, and in an instant it was enveloped in flames, burning it so that its life is despaired of. Dr. Little rendered medical aid.